

If the media is controlled by one "power", only the opinions of that "power" will be known and expressed. In the interest of democracy, it is best to allow as many different views, opinions, and criticisms, as possible. Only then, can the populace, as a whole, make an informed decision.